The Vinalhaven Port District Meets Public Demand—To Raise $100,000

Vinalhaven residents voted Tuesday night, in a special town meeting, to construct an 85-foot combi-muter to accommodate approximately 50 passengers was turned down in a special meeting held recently. Curtis Webster served as moderator of the meeting which convened at 7:30 and adjourned at 8:15. Leslie B. Dyer read a description of the proposed boat and made the motion for its purchase. This was promptly seconded and passed with a heavy majority in its favor. The meeting voted permission for the Port District Trustees to petition the Legislature for the right to raise $100,000 by bond issue to finance the new craft. Previously, $75,000 had been voted but was found by preliminary figures to be inadequate. Members of the Port District Trustees, who will be charged with the construction and operation of the boat are Ambrose Petersen, Clyde Bickford, A. E. Libby, Colon Winslow and Clarence Bennett. Mr. Petersen stated Wednesday that the group intends to engage a naval architect at once to draw plans for the boat and to have them approved by Merchant Marine Inspection Division of the Coast Guard prior to building. Once the plans are drawn and approved, he said, invitations to bid will be issued to shipyards. The Port District officials hope to have the boat in operation in time for the summer traffic.

AHEAD IN BOND SALES

Knox County Is 23 Percent Above the Figures For 1947

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds Series E for the year 1948 in Knox County were over 23 percent ahead of sales for 1947, it was announced today by Joseph W. Robinson of Rockland, County Chairman of the U. S. Savings Bonds Committee. Total sales of Series E Bonds in 1948 amounted to $485,325 as against $393,443 in 1947.

State Chairman Arthur F. Maxwell of Biddeford, complimented Chairman Robinson on the excellent work of his committee not only during the Security Loan Drive, but also through the year, and pointed out that as usual the citizens of Knox County showed their thriftiness and their appreciation of the best investment in the world today, U. S. Savings Bonds.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN

Girl Scouts Adopt Pleasant Method Of Raising Funds For Ensuing Year

A radical departure from anything heretofore attempted in fund raising campaigns in this area will be attempted shortly by the Rockland Girl Scouts. It will not be a question of asking folks to give money to support the admirable work being done by the Girl Scouts for small and adolescent girls in this community. Instead it will concern itself with a 50 percent commission on securing new subscriptions for The Courier-Gazette. On every subscription of $4, one-half, or $2 will go to the Girl Scout Fund. There is no limit on the number of subscriptions and the paper will be sent anywhere. The only requirements are that the subscription be new, for at least one year and paid for in cash. The campaign will be much more pleasant and practical than the old method of seeking donations, for it will not be charity but rather a method of supporting a splendid social work in this city, at the same time one subscribes to The Courier at the regular price. This does not mean that contributions will not be welcome, because they will be gladly received from those who already take the paper or wish to help the Girl Scouts but don't choose to take the paper. The campaign will open officially Saturday, Jan. 22, when booths will appear in several prominent local stores to receive subscriptions and the local workers will start their operations. Mrs. Mildred Crie will be general chairman of the campaign and will have nine captains working with her, one for each of the Girl Scout troops. The city will be thoroughly covered by Scouts, leaders and committee members. It is felt that the result will be ample funds to pay the rental of the fine Girl Scout room in Community Building and take care of the modest costs of Girl Scout work in Rockland for the ensuing year. A coupon will be printed each issue during the campaign and these may be clipped and sent to your favorite Girl Scout to count for her troop in the drive or it may be sent to Mrs. Crie, Community Building, and will be credited by her. A committee will be at the Girl Scout Room from 3:30 to 5:30 each night of campaign to receive subscriptions secured by the girls, this being done so the Scouts will not be obliged to carry money around with the constant danger of loss. Booths manned by Scouts in uniform or adults will be operated in the windows of H. H. Crie Co., Burpee Furniture Co., and Gregory's each Saturday for the purpose of receiving subscriptions or contributions. The campaign headquarters telephone will be 660 from 3:30 to 5:30 daily with Mrs. Crie and her secretary, Mrs. Helen L. Bray, in charge.

Mr. Holman Retires

Quits Presidency Of Quincy Insurance Firm—A Former Editor

Dudley M. Holman, long-time Owl's Head Summer resident and president of the U. S. Mutual Liability Insurance Co. of Quincy, Mass., will retire in February and make his permanent home in Owl's Head.

Mr. Holman has been president of the Knox Memorial Association for the past three years and is presently serving as head of the organization. Two years ago, he wrote and published a booklet on Montpelier and General Knox which received wide distribution and brought the memorial much favorable notice. Prior to entering the insurance business, Mr. Holman was editorially connected with the newspaper profession in Massachusetts, earning a most enviable reputation as a writer. He retires from active business life in his 86th year and even now plans the publishing of a second edition of the Montpelier booklet.

KNOX COUNTY TOURNAMENT

Basketball Teams In Junior and Senior Divisions To Compete In March

Knox County will have a basketball tournament in March, sponsored jointly by The Courier-Gazette, the Community Building and the coaches and headmasters of the High Schools and Junior High Schools of the county. Object of the tournament is to bring more and more boys into basketball throughout the area, forming in each town a league of teams which would work toward the county tournament.

Teams admitted to the tournament will be made up of students in High Schools and Junior High Schools who have not made their letter in varsity basketball. A committee was formed by regional director Mike DiRenzo of the Community Building which is made up of Henry Marsh, Charles

C. Wotton, Kenneth MacDougall, David Hodgkins, Jr., Lawrence Plummer and Sidney L. Cullen. The group met at the building Thursday night and laid the foundation for the program. Coaches and principals of the other towns of the county will receive invitations this week to serve on the general committee with those already named. Appropriate trophies will be awarded in both the Senior and Junior divisions, gold basketballs being presented members of the winning teams in each division. The Senior division trophy will be given by The Courier-Gazette. Trophy for the Junior division is yet to be donated.

In Rockland, coaches Lawrence Plummer and Ken MacDougall will shortly start the forming of a Community Building League of as many as 15 teams to work toward the tournament. Teams will be limited to eight players each. Games will be held on Saturdays with the Junior High Division playing in the mornings and the Senior High Division in the afternoons. Should there be more teams than are now expected, games will be run off Thursdays as well.

In addition to the student teams formed within the schools, teams from other groups such as the Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts or church groups are invited to join the League. Teams are hoped for from Camden schools, Camden YMCA, Rockport, Union, Washington, Vinalhaven and North Haven and the St. George and Friendship areas. The tournament is wide open to any group within the Junior or Senior High School ages. Teams need not have school sponsorship but may be sponsored by any adult group taking an interest in the program. Full information may be obtained from Director Mike DiRenzo at the Rockland Community Building.

REJECTED ZONING ORDINANCES

Rockport Voters, Four To One, Were Opposed To the Committee's Proposal

Rockport citizens flatly rejected the zoning ordinances presented to them in a special town meeting Wednesday night. Although there was much discussion prior to the actual voting, there was never a doubt as to the mind of the people jamming the town hall. The vote was 199 to "pass by" the ordinance and 49 to act on them. Although it was stated that the special meeting was not called for the purpose of restricting the proposed zoning plan, there were those who claimed "there's a nigger in the woodpile somewhere" and stuck to their statement. One individual remembered that the zoning committee had done nothing in the way of a report for the 10 months since the last town meeting and queried as to why a special town meeting was necessary just two months before the 1949 meeting if it wasn't the impending construction of the fish plant. L. True Spear served as moderator with E. A. Champney as clerk. Ballot clerks on the voting were Mrs. Lew Dietz, Harry Collamore and Earl Achen. The motion to pass by the article containing the ordinance was made early in the meeting by Harry Collamore. Nearly an hour of discussion was to follow before the motion was put to a Yes and No vote by ballot.

he has been directly responsible for.

State President of the Junior Chambers of Commerce Reginald W. Naugler of Bangor will be a speaker and guest of the local Chamber at the meeting and dinner.

Representative Curtis M. Payson of Union and Rockland will serve as toastmaster for the dinner. President Charles E. Bicknell, 3d, of the Rockland Chamber will present the annual report of the group and report generally on activities for the past year.

Special guests of the Junior Chamber will be Fred C. Gattcombe and Mrs. Gattcombe, of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce; City Council Chairman Osgood Gilbert and Mrs. Gilbert, and City Manager and Mrs. Frederick D. Farnsworth.

Serving on the committee in charge of the affair are Hugh Benner, Roy M. Estes, Albert Havener, Edward Coffin, Edward R. Ladd and Gerald P. Beverage. The Jaycees have entered several projects the past year, including the Lobster & Seafoods Festival which was highly successful. The festival served to publicize the area as a fishing port more completely than any other method which might have been employed. The industrial survey, now under way, will provide industrialists with complete information on sites in this area for their activities. At this time the Chamber has inquiries which may lead to the locating of a new industry in the city, providing adequate space is available.

Gattcombe's record as president of the Chamber of Commerce in the past was one of activity along the same lines which the Jaycees are now working. Close co-operation may be expected between Gattcombe in the Senior Chamber and the younger organization.

Despatch From Down East City Tells Of Possible O'Hara & Sons Move

An Eastport despatch in a State paper Wednesday told of a possible business transaction whereby the F. J. O'Hara & Sons Company might locate in Eastport. Plans were, the despatch said, to erect a fast freezing plant in the Passamaquoddy town in conjunction with the Frank Neal group.

O'Hara has operated in Rockland for approximately 10 years, establishing a modern filleting and fast freezing plant on the former Ira Feeney Wharf and only last year completing an ice plant which has a reported 100 ton capacity daily. Since opening business in Rockland, the company has rebuilt the wharf property almost completely and has added to the fast freezing and cold storage facilities which existed at the time of their purchasing the property.

There have been waterfront rumors of a possible sale of the company's extensive holdings in Rockland, although nothing has been released in the way of information by any person connected with the firm.

RAINBOW GIRLS TO INSTALL
The Rockland Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, will hold an installation tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Masonic Temple, Eastern Star members, Masonic bodies and parents of the girls may attend. Stephen E. Elper is credited with inventing six-man football.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Just what used to be the old grand jury room at the Court House, but which has since served as a private office for the sheriff's department, has been in the hands of decorators. Visitors are being introduced to a swell job by Ralph Clark & Co.

The two large elms which have long obscured the northern wall of the Universalist Church have been taken down this week, to the undoubted advantage of that House of Worship. The workmen thought they had struck a tough knot in one of the trees, and to their amazement found that the saw had encountered a large rock which had somehow become embedded in the tree trunk. It meant a newly sharpened saw, and if the men used language unbecoming such close proximity to a church it is not to be wondered at. Lots of wood from the two trees will furnish Court House fuel.

When The Courier-Gazette's new automatic cylinder press arrived Wednesday forenoon, it was a tight squeeze getting it through the main entrance, for after the inside of the door frame had been removed there was a clearance of only half an inch. But the new boss brought steamboats into the picture by recalling that when the new boats Matsonia and Lurline passed through the Fore River Bridge draw, they occasioned so much friction on the woodwork that fire engines played continuously to prevent fire. This ticklish job was in charge of the late Capt. Joseph Kemp (well known in Rockland) who summoned apparatus from the Weymouth and Quincy departments. Snug rub! Rather.

"Bad Enough to Saw" is the sour comment of the headline writer in The Rockland Courier-Gazette, who headed a story concerning Carl B. Olsen of that city. The latter was struck on the head with a bottle thrown at him from the roof of a nearby garage as Olsen patiently sawed wood in his back yard.—Lewiston Journal.

May I ask the observant State Chat editor if that word sour was intended for a pun?

Rockland Lions Heard Kosti Ruohomaa Tell Of His European Travels Last Summer

Jollity reigned supreme at Wednesday's meeting and it was nowise lessened when Kosti Ruohomaa, famed artist photographer, appeared in the role of guest speaker and drolly told of his experiences in Europe last summer when he visited 15 countries in pursuit of photographic material for Life Magazine and other publications. Kosti is now visiting his Rockland home on a richly earned month's vacation.

Readers of The Courier-Gazette who followed his occasional letters to this paper were given a view of some of his experiences.

His talk Wednesday related largely to his travels in Ireland, Germany and Finland, and was in the nature of anecdotes told with characteristic humor, enlivened by gesture and facial expression.

He recalled with special interest the fact that he spent one and one-half hours "behind the iron curtain," where precautionary measures were taken to prevent the travelers from seeing what Russia did not want them to see.

"Danny" Dandaneau appeared in the dual role of "waitress" and distributor of "Three Musketeers" souvenirs. Keith Goldsmith ventured to protest that the Lions had a rule against advertising, but met with a comeback by Police Chief Shaw which drowned him out.

Maurice Nute added to his busy secretarial duties by acting as song leader.

Was Boosters' Night Club Has Interesting Sports Session, Addressed By Dick Doyle and Others

Dick Doyle, versatile sports writer on the staff of the Press Herald, came to Rockland Wednesday night and in an address before the Boosters' Club and its guests furnished rare entertainment for sports lovers for three-quarters of an hour. He was accompanied to Rockland by John B. Cottrell, football coach of Deering High School, who laid special stress on the fine work of the Deering Boosters, and offered hints which may be deemed worthy of adoption by the new Rockland club.

The attendance at Wednesday night's meeting was a bit disappointing, due undoubtedly to the storm which had blanketed the city during the afternoon. Teenagers were out in considerable force to enjoy the World Series pictures shown by John Todd, and profiting no doubt from the talks by the visiting newspapermen.

Doyle's talk covered a statewide field of sports, with special emphasis on football and basketball. That he has kept in touch with local athletics was evident from the glowing tributes which he paid to Charles C. Wotton, Jimmy Connellan and numerous others.

Doyle discussed the Booster movement from varying angles, and expressed the belief that the new Rockland club was getting away to an auspicious start.

Editor Frank A. Winslow of The Courier-Gazette spoke briefly on Rockland sporting events for the past half century, referring to his own participation as a former ball player, long-time scorer, and roller polo referee.

The meeting was presided over by President Alvin MacFarland, with Clinton A. Robinson and James A. Moore co-starring as masters of ceremony.

The meeting in the High School auditorium was preceded by a dinner at Hotel Rockland, present at which were the following directors: Charles Foote, Oliver Holden, Robert Jones, William Butler, Jim Moore, Walter Smith, Arthur Billings, Principal Robert Clunie, School Board president Charles McIntosh and John Todd.

THE COURIER-GAZETTE TWICE-A-WEEK Editor, FRANK A. WINSLOW

[EDITORIAL]

A SHIPPING EMERGENCY

The need for American shipping, in the event of another war, so impresses the Maritime Commission that it has prepared to add $95,000,000 worth of new vessels to the merchant fleet. The plan calls for immediate construction of 17 new-type, high-speed passenger-cargo ships and tankers—all with so-called "national defense features" insuring easy and quick conversion to wartime use. The new program is slated to get underway if Congress provides the funds, on July 1.

THE REPUBLICAN DEFICIT

The Republican National Committee faces a deficit of $238,938, along with lots of deserved or undeserved criticism of the manner in which it conducted the campaign. The deficit in dollars offers no comparison, however, to the deficit of votes.

A DESERVED INCREASE

The proposal to increase the President's salary to $100,000 a year was approved 10 to 1 by the Senate Civil Service Committee, insuring early passage. This is a very comfortable boost for the Chief Executive, and one should very properly be made, even if it is a Democrat who receives the initial benefit. Based on the length of service enjoyed by President Truman's predecessor the present incumbent will receive $1,200,000 in the next 12 years.

INFLUENZA THREAT AGAIN

A mild but widespread epidemic of influenza is sweeping five European nations. Heaven forbid that there should be a recurrence of the disease which cost so many thousands of deaths in this country during and after the first World War. What sad memories that fateful period recalls.

SHORTAGE OF RECTORS

There's another present day shortage and this time it concerns the ministerial profession. Dean Taylor of the Protestant Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., says that even with every one of the church's theological schools filled it will not be possible to meet the shortage of Episcopal clergymen within the next 10 years.

"WITHOUT PRECEDENT"

The selection of Senator Margaret Chase Smith as a member of the Congressional Policy Committee is termed "without precedent in American political life." It is a demonstration of the esteem with which she is held by her Republican colleagues in the Senate, and a tribute to her achievement in becoming the first woman to win a Senate seat in her right without prior service under appointment, the statement noted. It is also clear evidence of the Republican Party policy which calls for full and equal participation by women in political affairs.

THEY LOST ON FOULS

Rockland Tigers Might Otherwise Have Won the Game In Winslow

Fouls apparently trimmed Rockland at Winslow Tuesday night as Winslow's star, Grenier sank 17 out of 20 free tries at the basket. Bartlett, rugged Rockland guard, didn't last out the first half before he was benched with his full quota of fouls. He was later followed by Holt, which took away a sizeable chunk of the Tigers' defensive material. Winslow registered on 26 foul shots that clicked against 30 points collected by shots from the floor.

Rockland took credit for 19 shots for 38 points from the floor and was only given eight foul shot points by the Winslow lads. Rockland's players were over-anxious, perhaps, with the result that bodily contact was frequent throughout the game with the game lost by Winslow's gains on the foul line.

Winslow is recognized as a fast, hard playing team, but not one that couldn't have been beaten. Basket for basket from the floor, Rockland was superior.

The Jayvee Game

The Rockland Jayvees, led by Johnson and Sulides, slipped over on their Winslow counterparts 32 to 29 in what some called the best game of the evening. The teams were evenly matched with 14 floor goals for Rockland and 13 for Winslow with the respective teams playing four and three points in the foul line.

Going into the last quarter, Rockland led 26 to 20. A late Winslow brought the score 29 to 26 in their favor in no time at all. Sulides made two free tosses count and Johnson swept a floor goal in from a corner on two different occasions, the last just 45 seconds before the final whistle. There was some fast ball handling to keep it in Rockland hands until the game was over with a 32 to 29 score.

The State Patrol

Chief Shaw, Who Started Something, Answers Mc- Cabe's Criticisms

Police Chief George Shaw of Rockland, who called upon the Legislature to put the State Troopers back on the highway through the columns of The Courier-Gazette Tuesday, had some of his figures questioned by State Police Chief Francis McCabe.

Shaw points out that while McCabe's figures stating that only 13 percent of the State Troopers' time is spent on duty not related to actual highway patrol, a further study of reports of the troopers will reveal otherwise. Study of these daily reports will show, Shaw said, that time employed on tasks for the Secretary of State Department are all charged to "highway related activities." These tasks are not associated with patrol of the highways, he said, but are duties which could be performed by the Secretary's inspectors.

When troopers are called on criminal investigation work, he pointed out, the time the trooper spends enroute to the scene of the crime or investigation is charged to highway related activities while the actual time consumed in the investigation is charged to "non-highway related" activities. By this means, he explained, the department is able to show an extremely small amount of time spent for criminal investigation.

Actual figures on reports and showing the time spent on investigations and Secretary of State errands would present a figure approximately the same as was given by him in the first article, Shaw stated.

The matter is simple enough for the people of the State to decide for themselves, he offered. "Just keep watch on your next trip over the highways of the State and note how many State troopers are seen on the highways." The troopers are working, he said, and mighty long hours, too, but not on the highways where they are sorely needed to cut down the accident and death rate which is increasing. Shaw stated that McCabe as head of the State Police at this time is not at all to blame for the situation but has merely inherited a condition, perhaps, only the Legislature can correct. Ordering the State Police to highway patrol, only leaving criminal investigation and Secretary of State work to the sheriffs, police and inspectors, would solve the problem, he said.

The method of recording the time of officers on various phases of duty is that in use at the time of Shaw's retirement as head of the Highway Safety Division on July 1.

The Weather

The Weather Bureau's sudden switch from a post-season autumn to a delayed winter has brought me back on the job, and today I am reporting a baby blizzard—the third snowfall of the season. The more or less respected street sweeper is enjoying a holiday, but most of the care are still running, which reminds me of other days when I was forced to report that the street cars were not running and the said Supt. Thomas Hawken was tugging nervously at his beard. The sun was due to rise (and probably did) at 7:13 this morning and to set at 4:24, which means that the days have lengthened 21 minutes. You can use that extra time in shoveling your sidewalk. (The Maine Farmer's Almanac lists Jan. 14 as "Plov Festival." Farmers who have left their out in the pasture may not be able to find them.)

Men's Association meets tonight at 6:30 for supper at the Congregational Church, with business and program of movies afterwards. Several items of business are up for action, one being the possibility of a joint session with the Women's Association in the near future.

There will be a business meeting of the Rockland Softball Association Thursday night, Jan. 20, at the office of Rockliff & Witham. Also at this time election of officers will be in order for the ensuing year. Let us have a good attendance.—adv.

The municipal accounting office, presided over by Katherine Veazie, recorded 250 employees in the city last year. This figure includes teachers and changes in teachers and all departments during the year. The Bog fire added 262 to the payroll with sufficient earnings to require the office to make income tax deductions.

Chief of Police George I. Shaw has received an invitation to speak before the Maine Parent-Teachers Association in their meeting at Falmouth, Jan. 23. Officials of the PTA have requested that he speak on highway safety in Maine.

Over 700 people attended the various sessions at the First Baptist Church last Sunday. Three hundred and eight were in attendance on the church school. This organization is opening a two-phase program for the next months that is attracting wide interest throughout the constituency.

The Elks and American Legion are making plans for a series of smokers to be held at the Community Building during the remainder of the winter. Friday nights, when basketball games are not scheduled, will probably be taken by the committees for the affairs. Amateur fighters only will be matched with local fight officials of the past renewing their licenses to take part in the programs. Carl Nelson heads the Legion group and will work with the Elks athletic committee. Other committee members are yet to be appointed.

William Thon, Port Clyde artist, who has recently returned from study in Italy, will speak before the Knox County Camera Club at Farnsworth Museum next Tuesday night. He will show a series of Kodachrome slides taken during trips in Italy. The Museum and Camera Club are jointly sponsoring the show which is open to the public.

Miss Leatrice St. Peter, a student nurse at the Mercy Hospital in Portland, has returned to her duties after spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit J. St. Peter.

Kermit J. St. Peter, manager of the Holmes Packing Company, has left for New York City to attend the Motor Boat Show and for Atlantic City to attend a National Cannermen's Convention.

Rockland meets Morse on the Bath school's court tonight in what may be a real test for both outfits. Should Rockland be able to weather the close refereeing of the Class A circuit and keep the fouls down, their chances of matching the shipbuilders score for score are good. The Cheveris game was lost because of a considerable number of fouls committed by Rockland and the Portland lads' uncanny ability to make them count. Weak in the foul shooting department, Rockland has failed to collect on the opportunities for scoring from that quarter throughout the season. Should the combination of Murgita and Connellan get its shooting eye in action and the guards stay away from fouls, Morse is going to have a rough time of it.

A heavy explosion "shook" The Courier-Gazette office mid-morning Wednesday when a cranky oil burner let go, filling the boiler room with flame and smoke and flooding one street floor room with soot through a ventilator. The Courier-Gazette's crew promptly knocked down the oil blaze with carbon dioxide extinguishers but were glad to see Chief Russell and his crew arrive on a still alarm to handle the resulting chimney fire and smoldering oil burner. Small damage resulted except to the nerves of The Courier-Gazette's McLellan and Wotton, who were working at casting machines in the same steel lined room, and who probably thought the war was on again. This newspaper has long been a bit of a target in the field of fire precautions and preparations. The handling of Wednesday's blast justified this feeling. The offending oil burner is not the property of this newspaper, being used to heat second floor offices.

Celebration by Baptist Church
Long range plans in the Sesqui-centennial campaign of the Baptist Church were revealed Tuesday by Chester O. Wyllie, committee chairman, at a luncheon supper at the Montgomery rooms. The observance will be in October, 1950.

He pointed out the two phases of the plans, divided into the spiritual and material appearances. It is on the latter, that present efforts will be centered, the main items of which are, painting of the church buildings, repair of the belfry, repair of a vestry, foundation wall, and the installation of a flush and lavatory in the basement. Cost estimate is $2000. A substantial sum toward the goal has already been raised, and volunteer work and materials promised. Work clearing the church basement has been started.

Mr. Wyllie used slides to illustrate the plans, the drawings for which were made by Carl B. Oxton, and photographed by Harold Dreyer, for use as slides.

Slogan adopted is "Improving for a better church."

Seventy-five attended the supper, served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jennie Kempton.

A song program was presented, under the direction of Roger Teague, with these numbers: Vocal duet, by Mrs. Leroy Norwood and Chester Wyllie; vocal solo by Roger Teague; reading of an original poem by Mrs. Jefferson Kimball; the showing of slides of a trip into New Hampshire, by Harold Dreyer.

State Legislature

Gov. Payne Presents Budget—Bill To Change Tenure Of Office

Gov. Payne submitted a $113,000,000 biennial budget Wednesday and told the Legislature it can be financed without new taxes. "However," Payne told a joint session of House and Senate, "any major expansion beyond recommendations in this budget will necessitate revenues greater than present levies provide."

The total is about $3,000,000 more than the total output estimated for the biennium ending next June 30. "It is your task," Payne told the Legislature, "to determine whether our people want such expansions as already requested with sufficient seriousness to be willing to pay for them through a new tax source."

State Senator Robert N. Haskell of Bangor wants to give tobacco users a break. Last year Maine smokers were taxed $5,433,354 by the State and couldn't deduct a cent of it for Federal income tax purposes.

Haskell said he would present a bill to the Senate to label the cigarette and tobacco tax a "levy on the consumer." That, he said, would make it deductible.

A constitutional amendment to change the term of Maine's governor from two to four years was proposed Wednesday, by Senator Frederick N. Allen of Portland.

A similar bill was rejected by the Legislature two years ago. Creation of an office of fire service—to improve Maine's fire fighting facilities—was asked in a bill filed by Rep. Senner, former South Portland fire chief. The plan was recommended by the Maine Fire Chiefs' Association.

The service would come under the State Insurance Department. It would have an administrator who would direct training and development of local fire services under town fire chiefs. There would be a deputy administrator and three assistants, one each for Northern, Central and Southern sections. A bill to permit county commissioners to assess up to three percent of the valuation in deorganized towns for road repairs was filed by McKen of Lewell.

Representative Louis Jalbert of Lewiston, says he will file a bill to make Maine's State election date conform to November National balloting time.

A similar measure was turned down two years ago by a Republican-dominated Legislature. This Legislature also is strongly GOP.

Jalbert said that "hundreds of thousands of dollars can be saved by changing the date of our elections." Foes of the proposal contended two years ago that Maine election separate from the National voting focused better attention on State issues.

Jalbert asked that "political considerations" be set aside in determining merits of his bill. "I am simply asking," he said, "that the Legislature send it out to the people for their decision."

The Legislative Research Committee has voted to issue a supplementary report on tax sources used by all the States. The chairman, Senator Edward B. Denny, Jr., of Damariscotta, said the report, which will be an addition to its regular report filed Dec. 31, will be made within two weeks. He said it will show the percentages of total tax revenue obtained from each source.

"It should be a great help to the legislators," Denny said.

Aged, Blind, Neglected

Legislation to increase Maine's aid to the aged, blind and neglected children has been prepared. Senator Williams of Clifton said he will ask that maximum payments to the aged and blind be raised from $40 to $50 a month.

J. C. Fund

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Fund with which they will advertise the industrial possibilities of the area, crept over $250 this morning as the Park street merchants contributed almost in a body Thursday.

Funds may be mailed to Willard Pease, treasurer, Junior Chamber of Commerce in care of The Courier-Gazette, Rockland. The Jaycees will make a public accounting of all funds used in the program. The Junior Chamber seeks a total of $750 to complete the program.

Gov. Payne (R) urged such a boost in his inaugural address last week. Williams proposed that maximum aid for care and board of neglected children be increased from $24 to $30 a month.

Williams said companion measures will ask $165,000 for the fiscal year ending next June 30 to finance higher old age assistance and $50,000 for neglected children.

Two years ago, he added, when the welfare committee wanted to increase the maximum grants to $45 a month, the Legislature wanted to go along with it, "but just couldn't find the money."

"Now," he added, "the federal matching makes it possible for us to pay up to $50 a month and I think and hope that this 94th Legislature will pass, this emergency legislation so that we can help our old people."

Williams said some increased payments could be put into effect in March—if the bills are passed—and the others in April.

they have laid out for the coming months in trade magazines which go directly to the heads of thousands of industrial establishments.
